

Pandemic-Proof Your Practice

DCs Remain Open, Providing "Essential Services" to Truck Drivers by Offering DOT Physical Exams.

LEARN MORE

You recently showed interest in our sponsored email from Dynamic Chiropractic, discussing how Chiropractors have effectively created both a recession and pandemic-proof source of revenue by performing DOT physical exams.

Drivers are having a very difficult time obtaining a current medical certificate because many clinics are closed or too busy treating "sick" people. We have been getting the word out that our clinics generally do not treat "sick" people, reducing their chance of exposure to COVID-19. Our medical examiners help minimize interruption of operations by keeping drivers on the road while maintaining safety and creating a Safe Harbor for Motor Carriers.

Chiropractors in all states except New York, Michigan, and Washington can perform these exams and are charging on average $80 for a service that requires minimal effort and time.

Become a Certified Medical Examiner!

To perform DOT physicals, you must first become a Certified Medical Examiner (CME) which requires completion of proper training, followed by the NRCME Certification test.

TeamCME provides the most comprehensive online training available, created by Dr. Michael Megehee, NRCME Champion and FMCSA Medical Examiner Education WIPT. Included is a 200+ question practice test designed to supplement your knowledge.

We encourage you to learn more about becoming a CME and the amazing benefits we provide to our members by going to www.teamcme.com
